NY LUXURY DESIGN FAIR

recently announced Editor's Choice Awards will consist of a distinguished lineup of acclaimed editors from leading design and lifestyle publications that will laud the best of multiple exhibitor categories, from lighting to art, seating, furniture, and accessories. In addition to MADE, awards will also extend to the fair's additional beloved sections: REFRESH, a must-visit area featuring new designs and state-of-the-art innovations in and for the kitchen, bath, and complementing areas, and FURNISH, a luxurious resource for the newest, most spectacular market introductions in furniture, lighting, textiles, and more. Read More

>NYCxDESIGN launched its first Emerging Designer Residency in partnership with ARTSTHREAD at Hudson Yards.

Now through June, four recent graduates from FIT, Parsons School of Design, and The School of Visual Arts will transform a highly visible storefront on Level 4 of The Shops at Hudson Yards into a pop-up studio where they will spend thirteen weeks working on their portfolios and showcasing finished projects. Brought to life in a museum-like setup, the public is invited to view the design process in action. Visitors can read more about the program and each artist through QR codes printed on the space's windows. Contact information for each designer is also available for the public to inquire directly about purchasing the pieces they see in the making. The designers' projects range in medium:

- Lenny Vuitton will develop a rug-making practice inspired by his fun and colorful paintings;
- Yi Hsuan Sung will produce lamps with a faux flower-making system using agar, food waste, and 3D-printed molds;

- Lizzy Itzkowitz's pop-up silkscreen lab will showcase the versatility of her cartooning and patterning; and
- Xin Min will create a series of 100 teacups using a variety of ceramic techniques, including wheel, hand-building, and slip casting.

The four residents were selected in partnership with ARTSTHREAD, a launchpad for the next generation of creative talent representing 300,000 students in 125 countries from over 900 design schools. Read More
